.oday.
ıtlawed
ess, So-
.eased from Prison in 1969
s detention with-

application for a
was refused, he aske ın exit permit which enable him to leave Africa but never return
newspaper said rejection is application indicated a attitude toward opponents of government policies who wanted to leave South Africa.

BULLETIN - 7/2/70

Swingin' Justice

Attorney General John N. Mitchell and his wife Martha hosted a swinging 100th birthday celebration for the usually staid Justice Department.

An estimated 2,500 employes — many of them reserved at first—began to loosen up in the unique party atmosphere as they took swigs of the 3,100 gallons of free draught beer and moved to the music of the rock group El Corals that bounced deafeningly off the stone walls of the courtyard of the block-long, block-wide Justice building in Washington.

There were several big birthday cakes honoring the department that was founded in 1870 under Attorney General Ezenezer A. Hoar, a native of Massachusetts.